Newest Baseball Puzzle

The inevitable "dope" feed of baseball hobbled up with a queer question, one that on its face, sounds ridiculous, but which has been in fact after all. He asks:

"Granting he has the ability, is it possible for a pitcher to strike out 28 men in a nine-inning game?"

It is possible. Walter Johnson's performance last year probably gave rise to the question and at the same time called the answer. In a certain game he struck out Johnson's catcher and failed to stop the runner on base credit for a strike, though the man was not struck out every man that fact have ended with 28 strike-outs.

Mrs. Margaret Ginn

Mrs. Margaret Ginn, wife of Mr. William Ginn, died yesterday morning at 10 o'clock at her home in Forest avenue, after a protracted illness, aged 64. She is survived by her husband and three sons and one daughter.

Funeral tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the house with services by Rev. Clark.

Water Pipe Burst

A two-inch water pipe that supplies the elevator at Brileb's White Palace Furniture Store, in West Second street, burst this morning and came near flooding the entire cellar floor. Everything was frozen and it was nearly an hour before workmen succeeded in shutting off the water from the large main in the street.

Spilled Out

Yesterday afternoon Mr. John McAuliffe and Mr. Riley McGinn had a narrow escape from serious injury. They were returning from Mrs. Short's funeral and in descending the steep grade this side of Hanley's store in West Third street the horse frightened at boys coasting in the street, upset the buggy, pulled the shafts loose from the vehicle and ran off. Mr. McAuliffe was considerably bruised about the face and body. Mr. McGinn was fortunate in escaping without a scratch. Coasting on the public thoroughfare should be prevented by the city authorities as it is a menace and dangerous to farmers coming to town in bugles and wagons.

LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY

Will Be Appropriately Observed
All Over the Country
Today

Today is Lincoln's natal anniversary and the occasion will be generally observed throughout the length and breadth of the land.

Next to Washington, he is enshrined in the hearts of his countrymen as being the greatest and grandest President that ever sat in the Presidential chair.

He was born in Larue county, Kentucky, February 12th, 1809, and died in Washington City April 14th, 1865, aged 56.

FATAL ACCIDENT

Robert A. Hook, a Well-Known Citizen, Killed By a Falling Tree

Robert A. Hook, a prominent Lewis county farmer, was fatally injured Saturday noon while felling a tree on his place and died shortly after receiving the injury.

In felling the tree split, part springing back and striking him in the breast.

He lived about half an hour after he was found.

He was born September 20th, 1860. He is survived by his widow and three children.

He was a brother of Squire William H. Hook.

Funeral this afternoon at 1 o'clock from Bethany Church.

GETTING WEARY.
It's Wilson this, and Harvey that,
And Waterson again—
And Bryan this, and Bryan that;
Please stop it, gentlemen,
The public doesn't care who died,
So tin your little bell outside.

Mr. Robert Jefferson of Maysville has gone to the Lexington Hospital for treatment.

At the Baptist Church yesterday there were three additions by baptism. The congregation was large and the interest deeply evidenced.

Mr. Hiram P. Chenoweth, who has been very ill with typhoid fever at his home in East Second street for nearly two months, remains about the same.

3 Below Zero Yesterday Morning
Yesterday morning the Government thermometer at Maysville registered three degrees below zero, while this morning it was 28 above.

Large Funeral

The funeral of the late T. M. Dora at Germantown yesterday was largely attended by relatives and friends. The Knights of Pythias and Masons attended in a body.

LINENS OF LUXURY

There's more than money-saving in our linen's; there's luxury in the quality and luxury in the choosing, too. An unprecedented stock in bigness, quality and price.

TABLE LINENS

FOR $1—Naturally a good table damask is expected at this price, but none of such goodness and beauty as this handsome snow white 84 in Damask. Twelve exquisite patterns, seventy-two inches wide.

FOR 50c—A small price to pay for all-line Damask. One instantly thinks of thin quality and narrow width, but we show a substantial Damask, within an inch of being two yards wide; good, solid, heavy.

Unusual values also at 75c, $1.19, $1.49 up to $3.99 yard.

NAPKINS

A half dozen items must hint of a half hundred. For a $1.98 a dozen grass-bleached, German drill Napkins, twenty-two inches square—the sort that gives years of service. Dew-bleached Napkins, twenty-two inches square, a quality that will make friends and buyers at once; they are $2.49 a dozen. At $1 a dozen, heavy, well-made bleached double Damask Napkins from Ireland, with plenty of patterns you will like, twenty-two inches square. They're the kind you'd expect to pay $1.50 for.

GET YOUR TOWEL SUPPLIES NOW

At 10c. Bleached Huckaback, 18x34 inches, hemmed end colored or white borders. Large size 18x36 inches, 12 1/2c.

The Tariff Board is now investigating the leather schedule, and will give hearings to the various interests concerned.

If RICHARD CAMPION, the well known worsted yarn dealer of Philadelphia, is sent to Congress, as now seems probable, he will be an able representative of the industrial interests. He has long been a student of the tariff, and is eminently qualified to take an active part in tariff work in Congress.

According to President Lux of the National Association of Retail Grocers, parcels post legislation is certain of defeat. Numerous petitions are pouring into Congress against this measure. The Pennsylvania State Grange threaten to make the scheme absurd in their demand that it be employed in the distribution of milk. Why not include beef, mutton and pork?

Foolish Philosophy.

To the young man who has not been hatched, and who does not know whether he will hatch out a goose or a peacock, life seems a great success.

Don't imagine a fool wants wise men to instruct him; a fool wants to convert sensible men to his false notions.

"This," says nearly every man when a baby arrives at his house, "is the last."

When a man is fifty, the raffle is over, and he knows he hasn't drawn anything; but the young man of nineteen or twenty is just shaking the box for his first throw.

When a woman buys cigars for a man's Christmas present, she thinks he will never notice the difference between a box of twenty-five and a box of a hundred.

A good scare is worth more to a man than good advice.

Every boy knows of a good fishing place he hopes some day to visit; but after he finally gets there he finds it fished out.

There are a good many things a man would like to buy a dime's worth of but can't get without taking the whole box.

About the toughest thing that can happen to a man is to go contrary to his wife's wishes and then fail.

Many people are discontented because they never have any fun, and imagine others do. As a matter of fact, no one has much fun.—Ed Howe.

EMINENTLY MORAL.

Among the questions given by a country Superintendent was the following example in arithmetic: "If a horse can run a mile in 1 minute 50 seconds and another a mile in two minutes, how far would the first horse be ahead in a race of two miles?"

A very prim teacher returned the question with this attached: "I will have nothing to do with horse racing."

Lincoln's Letter to Mrs. Bixby

Washington, Nov. 21, 1864.
Mrs. Bixby, Boston, Mass.
Dear Madam,
I have been shown in the files of the War Department a statement of the Captain General of Massachusetts that you are the mother of five sons who have died gloriously in the field of battle. I feel how weak and fruitless must be any word of mine which should attempt to beguile you from the grief of a loss so overwhelming. But I cannot refrain from tendering you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the Republic they died to save. I pray that our Heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement, and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn promise that our Heavenly Father will in His own good time, restore you to the arms of your husband.

Among the truly great acts of the Emancipator must be counted the thoughtfulness which impelled him to write this letter of consolation to a sorely afflicted mother.

Lincoln's Speeches and Letters

ONLY three years ago the whole world united in loving memory of the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln. With the recollection of that vast volume of eloquence still fresh upon us, it may sound paradoxical to hint that Lincoln is even now without honor in his own country.

Perhaps you have noticed that while paradoxes are not always true, as Mr. G. K. Chesterton would have us believe an astonishingly large number have much truth in them. So it is with this one.

Of course we are all able to recount anecdotes about the young rail-splitter, the country storekeeper, the struggling lawyer, the stump speaker, the presidential nominee, the Great Emancipator. We can tell some of his own yarns and jokes. I wonder if Lincoln's habit of joking is not the very reason we have withheld his full meed of worship. We are so prone to laugh at, as well as with, the man who seems to aim at entertainment. Let us not forget that Lincoln's stories and masterly funning were only escape valves for his feelings.

Well, all these superficial things, I say, we know and appreciate, to be sure; we listen to little sermons on "qualities" that he is said to have possessed; we have heroic half mystical notions about him; he has become a myth. But do we know his words? Have we drunk his bottomless wisdom? Are we vaccinated by the Lincoln literature against cant and cowardice?

The man, statesman, martyr, is written in letters so large that to many it may seem anti-climax to turn to the smaller print and read Lincoln, the writer of letters and maker of speeches. Yet here I venture that he is no less great. No real man of letters is a mere man of letters. You and I and all sensible people have no patience with the man who writes or talks, not because he must, but because he can. The writer who has no purpose in writing other than literary style may not be as obnoxious as some other parasites, but his importance in the real world of victory and defeat is certainly represented by a minus sign. Lincoln is one of the fortunate few whose genius kept pace on all sides.

Loyal Americans have perhaps been too close to the massive features of their hero to admire sufficiently his symmetry. The colossal effect has blinded us to some of the colossal details. The British have done better. I understand that one and only one specimen of American oratory is pronounced perfect at Oxford university and studied with loving care. Of course this is the Gettysburg speech. (I know there are good reasons why Englishmen dislike the speeches of John Adams and Patrick Henry, but their judgment is right in this case, despite their prejudice.) No more nearly perfect utterance ever issued from the mouth of man.

More or less homage, certainly, has been paid to the Gettysburg address. "That government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth" is becoming the slogan of a newly awakened America in her battle against "Principlities and powers." The second inaugural address also, and the Cooper Institute speech with its famous ending.

"Let us have faith that makes right, and in that faith let us to the end, dare to do our duty as we understand it."

are fairly well known by name, and sometimes read. But there are so many wise, tender, magnificent things from the pen of Lincoln, which, though they are within the reach of all, remain practically unread. We do not turn to them when they are at hand, and take them as a matter of course. "Matter of course" really spells indifference. Let us make a journey to the well ourselves.

What of that famous "I would save the Union" letter that he sent to Horace Greeley, in which he riddled the editor of the New York Tribune with the most delicious satire? Do you know it?

What of his reply to the working-men of Manchester, the letters to McClellan, Grant, Seward, the note to Thurlow Weed, in which, referring to his recent inaugural address, he says: "Men are not flattered by being shown that there has been a difference of purpose between the Almighty and them. To deny it, however, in this case is to deny that there is a God governing the world. It is a truth which I thought needed to be told!" Do you catch the sublime simplicity and modesty of this last?

What of that masterpiece to General Hooker?

General: I have placed you at the head of the Army of the Potomac. Of course, I have done this upon what appear to me to be sufficient reasons, and yet I think it best for you to know that there are some things in regard to which I am not quite satisfied with you. I have heard in such a way as to believe it, of your recently saying that both the army and the government needed a dictator. Of course, it was not for this, but in spite of it, that I have given you the command. Only those generals who gain successes can set up dictators. What I now ask of you is military success, and I will risk the dictatorship.

What of that letter to Mrs. Bixby, "the mother of five sons who have died gloriously on the field of battle"? He ended this note to an obscure woman, "Yours very sincerely and respectfully, Abraham Lincoln;" whereas to the powerful Greeley he did not deign the courtesy of his full name: "Yours, A. Lincoln."

One likes to see that down in black and white.

What of his "Lost Speech," made at Bloomington, Ill., in 1858, at the organization of the Republican party, and so-called because all the reporters, conquered by his eloquence, forgot to take notes? One young lawyer kept his head better than the others and managed to get some shorthand notes. From these and from a remarkable memory he wrote down years after what all surviving hearers unite in calling an accurate rendering of this unique speech.

Much has been written of Lincoln's humor—as though he were a mere joke-maker.

To me this humor was a far bigger and grander thing than his fooling. His anecdotes, brilliant and illuminating as they were, like summer lightning, merely indicated the remote storm below the horizon. His humor was his sanity—his balance. He knew how to do the right as he saw the right and bide the "well done" of the future.

This Illinois rail-splitter reminds me of no one so much as Jesus, the son of the Nazarene carpenter. Lincoln was second only to one in being the tallest, saddest, wisest, most humorous man since time was.

Read the Cooper Institute address and try to find a single statement that could have been made plainer. You will be doomed to failure, I think, but such a failure is a delight.—Exchange.

Medicine Used in Rural Districts

Over 35% of the population of the United States are said to live in rural districts remote from physicians or drug stores and they are obliged to depend upon proprietary medicines to a very great extent.

To the women in these homes, such standard remedies as Lydie E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound comes as a boon and a blessing.

For nearly forty years this splendid medicine, compounded from roots and herbs, has been relieving the women of this country from the worst forms of female ills. Merit alone could have stood such a test.

I Will Help You Do It. Read My Guarantee

Dyspepsia may be completely eradicated if properly treated. I sell a remedy that I positively guarantee will completely relieve indigestion or dyspepsia, or the medicine used during the trial will cost the user nothing.

This remedy has been named Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. Certainly no offer could be more fair, and my offer should be proof positive that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are a dependable remedy.

Inasmuch as the medicine will cost you nothing if it does not benefit you, I urge you who are suffering with indigestion or dyspepsia to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. A 25-cent box contains enough medicine for fifteen days' treatment. For chronic cases I have two larger sizes, 50c and $1. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies only at my store—The Rexall Store, Thos. J. Chenoweth, corner Second and Sutton streets.

Hay's Hair Health the Favorite

Refined Women Give This Invigorating Hair Tonic the Preference

When a woman buys a Hair Restorer she is particular to get something just right. She wants a preparation that is safe and pleasing, and she doesn't want people to think she's dyeing her hair.

HAY'S HAIR HEALTH cleans up and invigorates the scalp and encourages new hairs to grow. Brings back the NATURAL COLOR to your hair, makes it soft and lustrous—same as when you were young. Leaves no stain on skin and nobody can tell you are using it.

Mrs. Fred Gompert of 223 W. 148th St., New York City, writes me:

"About six months ago I had a bald spot on the very top of my head as big as the palm of my hand. In about seven weeks' time, using HAY'S HAIR HEALTH continuously, new hairs started to grow. They are getting just as long and are the same color as the rest of my hair. I shall never give up using it."

You can get it at any druggist's for 50c or $1 per bottle or from the Philo Spec. Co. Newark, N. J.

THREE FOURTHS

Of Jury May Return Verdict Under New Constitution of Ohio

"The right of trial by jury shall be inviolate, but the General Assembly may authorize that in civil cases a verdict may be rendered by the concurrence of not less than three-fourths of a jury."

This proposal offered by Delegate Ellison of Athens county, and marked No. 64, was the first to be passed by the Constitutional Convention since it began its session the first week in January. It was approved after a day of debate, pronounced of lofty tone, by a vote of 93 to 11.

It means, if adopted by the people, that hereafter it will take four men to hang a jury in a civil case instead of one, as at present, for, under this rule, nine jurors may return a verdict. Just as decisively the convention voted down amendments seeking to apply the same rule to criminal cases.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Lincoln's Story of His Life

Of special interest at this moment is the brief sketch of Abraham Lincoln's life which he furnished for publication when he was pitted against Stephen A. Douglas for senator of Illinois in runs as follows:

"I was born February 12, 1809, in Hardin county, Ky. My parents were both born in Virginia of undistinguished families—second families perhaps I should say. My mother, who died in my tenth year, was of a family of the name of Hanks, some of whom now reside in Adams, and others in Macon county, Ill. My paternal grandfather, Abraham Lincoln, emigrated from Rockingham county, Va., to Kentucky about 1781 or 1782, where, a year or two later, he was killed by Indians, not in battle, but by stealth, when he was laboring to open a farm in the forest. His ancestors, who were Quakers, went to Virginia from Berks county, Pa. An effort to identify them with the New England family of the same name ended in nothing more definite than a similarity of Christian names in both families, such as Enoch, Levi, Mordecai, Solomon, Abraham and the like.

"My father at the death of his father was but 6 years of age, and he grew up literally without education. He removed from Kentucky to what is now Spencer county, Ind., in my eighth year. We reached our new home about the time the state came into the Union. It was a wild region, with many bears and other game animals still in the woods. There I grew up. There were some schools, recalled, but no qualification was ever required for a teacher beyond reading, writing and elpherin' to the rule of three. If a straggler supposed to understand Latin happened to sojourn in the neighborhood he was looked upon as a wizard. There was absolutely nothing to excite ambition for education.

"Of course when I came of age I did not know much. Still, somehow, I could read, write and cipher to the rule of three; but that was all. I have not been to school since. The little advance I now have upon this store of education I have picked up from time to time under the pressure of necessity.

"I was raised to farm work, which I continued till I was 22. At 21 I came to Illinois and passed the first year in Macon county. Then I got to New Salem, at that time in Sangamon, now Menard county, where I remained a year as a sort of clerk in a store. Then came the Black Hawk war, and I was elected a captain of volunteers, a success which gave me more pleasure than any I have had since. I went through the campaign, was elected, ran for the legislature the same year (1832) and was beaten—the only time I have ever been beaten by the people. The next and three succeeding biennial elections I was elected to the legislature. I was not a candidate afterward. During this legislative period I had studied law, and removed to Springfield to practice it.

"In 1846 I was once elected to the lower house of congress. Was not a candidate for reelection. From 1849 to 1854, both inclusive, practiced law more assiduously than ever before. Always a Whig in politics and generally on the Whig electoral ticket, making active canvasses. I was losing interest in politics when the repeal of the Missouri compromise aroused me again. What I have done since then is pretty well known.

"If any personal description of me is thought desirable, it may be said I am in height six feet four inches nearly, lean in flesh, weighing on an average 180 pounds; dark complexion, with coarse black hair and gray eyes. No other marks or brands recollected.

"Yours very truly,

"A. LINCOLN."

This was written a couple of years before he ran the first time for president. "The rest," as the phrase is, "is history." Though Douglas beat him for senator, the popular vote of the state was with him, as the legislative returns showed, namely, for Lincoln 126,048, for Douglas 121,940. In his first campaign for the presidency Lincoln received 180 of the 303 electoral votes, and had a plurality of 491,295 of the popular vote in a total of 4,608,193. In his second campaign he received 212 electoral votes out of 233, leaving McClellan only 21, and he had a clear majority of 411,428 in the popular vote. Thus, as in the tribute of London Punch, by Tom Taylor, the dramatist, when the assassin's bullet had laid him low, his course and conduct of the war had been vindicated:

So he grew up, a destined work to do, And lived to do it; four long suffering years Ill fate, ill feeling, ill report lived through, And then he heard the hisses change to cheers.

His work was done, but he was cut off in his hour of triumph.

EXPERIENCE NEW TO LINCOLN

But He Had to Admit That One Time He Got the Worst of It in a Horse Trade.

FRIEND, a prominent Illinois judge, and Lincoln were bantering each other as to their knowledge of horses.

"Tell you what, judge," Lincoln quoted himself as saying, "I'll test this thing with a real horse trade. I'll go blind, too. Each of us must go, now, and bring his horse; and we are to swap even. If either of us refuse the exchange, he must forfeit $25."

"The judge agreed. A crowd assembled while we sought the horses. By and by the judge arrived with his—the boniest, most awaybacked, foundered, galled jade, blind in both eyes, that I ever saw. I followed, with the carpenter's horse I'd relied on. Everybody roared, but I knew the joke was on me.

"Judge," I told him, "I'll stand by the bargain—but it's the first time I've ever got the worst of it in a horse trade."

AFTER GRIP

How Strength May Be Recovered

So many people are asking how to recover their strength after the grip that we are publishing this information for their benefit.

After grip, pleurisy, pneumonia or any exhausting illness what you need is new strength and better blood.

The most certain way to get this is by using our delicious cod liver and iron preparation without oil, called Vinol. It positively does create strength, make the blood rich, sharpen the appetite and increase vitality.

Mrs. Battie Elms of Queensbury, N. Y., says: "Last spring I had a hard case of grippe and was very slow about getting over it. I was almost discouraged. Vinol was recommended to me and I began using it. Now it has done me so much good that I must tell you about it, for I have regained my strength and appetite and feel well again."

Try Vinol with the certainty that if it does not benefit you we will give back your money. John C. Pecor, Druggist, Maysville, Ky.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the seated portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness and that is by constitutional treatment. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube.
When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out of this tube, it will be destroyed forever; likewise, if the ear is attacked by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars
